TO LET PACKERS TELL CONGRESS ALL ABOUT IT

MEAT KINGS MAY BE CALLED BEFORE PROBING COMMITTEE TO EXPLAIN PRICE.

Henry and Clayton Issue Joint Statement Such Inquiry Will Be Instituted.

By The Associated Press.
Washington, June 2.—Congress is about ready to investigate another "trust" and in consequence some of the big men in the packing industry who recently were acquitted in criminal proceedings in Chicago probably will be summoned to Washington to tell why the price of beef and other cuts has gone up.
After a conference today between Representative Henry of Texas, chairman of the house rules committee, and Representative Clayton of Alabama, chairman of the judiciary committee, a joint statement was made public indicating that such an investigation would be made.
May Urge Trust Law Change.
The statement said also that the department of justice probably would be called upon to furnish information in its possession regarding the beef trust and its operation. A recommendation for an amendment to the Sherman law may be made in a report of the committee after the inquiry.
Representative Edwards of Georgia, already has introduced a resolution in the house directing the attorney general to proceed with a suit to dissolve the beef trust. It was said today, however, that such a resolution was not necessary. Under the "money trust" resolution it was pointed out that congress has power to look into practically any combination in the country.

NEW BUILDING PLANNED FOR SANGER BROS.

WHOLESALE DEPARTMENT TO OCCUPY ADDITIONAL FOUR-STORY STRUCTURE.

Will Be Erected in Rear of Present Retail Site—Business Rapidly Increasing.

By The Associated Press.
That a four-story brick building to occupy a space of 90x190 feet will be erected at an early date by Sanger Brothers came to light Sunday afternoon. The building will be used by the wholesale department and will be erected on the firm's property immediately back of where the retail store now stands. The building will front on Third street, extending 190 feet on Washington. Architect Milton W. Scott has been at work upon the plans for some time and will submit them at an early date.
The estimated cost of the new structure will exceed $75,000 and it will be modern in every particular. It is understood that work upon the new building will begin within a short time as the concern is already in need of more room to accommodate its fast growing wholesale business. The wholesale department of Sanger Brothers does an annual business of over $2,000,000, which is being increased each succeeding year. It is thought that the business of the present year will run far in excess of $2,000,000.
The department now occupies floor space totaling 111,500 square feet. When the new building is completed this will be materially augmented, giving this firm probably the largest floor space of any wholesale house in a city the size of Waco in the entire country. The new building will be thoroughly modern, fire proof, and will be a handsome addition to that fast growing business district.

SOUTH DAKOTA TO WIND UP PRIMARIES

"SUNSHINE" STATE WILL CHOOSE DELEGATES TO CHICAGO AND BALTIMORE TOMORROW.

Senator Gamble, Who Voted to Withdrawal, Is Candidate for Own Seat.

By The Associated Press.
Sioux Falls, S. D., June 2.—South Dakota will close its primary campaign tomorrow night. The primaries will be held Tuesday. Republicans and democrats will select a list of ten delegates to Chicago and Baltimore. The republicans have tickets in the field for La Follette, Roosevelt and Taft. The democrats will vote on Clark and Wilson tickets.
Both parties also have senatorial, congressional and state tickets in the field. Senator Gamble is seeking a preferential vote for reelection. He has a hard fight ahead. He was elected to the senate as a progressive republican but soon after taking his seat, he cast his lot in with the progressives. As a member of the Lorimer investigating committee, he twice voted to clear the Illinoisan and also was among the forty-six senators who voted on the floor of the senate against the resolution declaring Lorimer's election invalid.

TWO DIE IN FALL OF MONOPLANE AT BREMEN

ALBERT BUCHSTAETTER, NOTED GERMAN AVIATOR, AND PASSENGER KILLED.

Machine Falls to Heavily It Is Half Buried in Earth With Bodies of Its Victims.

By The Associated Press.
Bremen, June 2.—Albert Buchstaetter, one of the best known of the German aviators, and his passenger, Lieut. Viller, of the German army, were killed today when their monoplane plunged to the ground just after starting on the northwest aviation circuit of 425 miles.
The monoplane, guided by Buchstaetter, rose and was taking a curve preparatory to straightening out for the long journey when the accident occurred. Apparently the aviator overbent his machine. The machine dropped so heavily it was half buried in earth and had to be taken apart before the bodies of the men could be extricated.
Flight Abandoned.
Fifteen professional aviators, with members of the army aviation corps as passengers, had entered the contest but after the accident the flight was abandoned. The disaster was witnessed by a distinguished gathering, among which was the Grand Duke of Oldenburg.
Buchstaetter was an experienced aviator who made several notable flights during 1911.

Sunday "Fishing" Trip Plans Cause Pastor's Son Pain

Renfro Knickerbocker, son of Rev. H. D. Knickerbocker, pastor of the Austin Avenue Methodist church, may have plenty of fun today with a fishing hook, but a diminutive one caused him several kinds of suffering and finally resulted in the services of a physician Sunday afternoon. With a number of other boys, he left this morning on a Y. M. C. A. conducted fishing trip, but concluding, evidently, that yesterday afternoon was an opportune time to get his fishing tackle in order and thus he prepared to hit for the river at break of day, he began overhauling it. In some manner, a hook slipped and the barb imbedded itself in his right thumb. After spending sometime endeavoring to extricate the hook from his thumb, or pull his thumb from the hook, he appealed to his mother, who finally took him to a physician for attention.

Swat the Fly Fight Gets Local Impetus, Ammunition is Free

The reign of the fly is ended. His fate is sealed. Doomed, is the word. Its existence will soon be a memory and the question is: Will you have had a hand in destroying this death-dealing monarch which has reigned so long with the bald headed row for a trine? But, as our old friend Rud Kipling would say, that is another story.
Powers & Kelly local druggists, have issued a proclamation to loyal humans asking them to join an organized movement against the common enemy, the fly. They have generously agreed to furnish free ammunition with which to swat the pesky pest and if you are wise—six flies, etc. Walk into the store today, simply say, "a fly killer, please" and a polite clerk will gladly and smilingly present you, gratis, for nothing, one of the fly-killing cannons, which spells "Good Bye, Mister Fly."

"Foxy" Overalls Fatal to Hunter, Shot for a Fox

By The Associated Press.
Nashville, Tenn., June 2.—John Courser was accidentally shot today near Winchester by Will Roray. Both men were members of a party which was hunting for fox. Courser was a pair of overalls which were the color of a fox. Roray saw these through the underbrush and shot at Courser, killing him instantly.

PLAN TO SEIZE REPUBLICAN COMMITTEE

FIRST BIG FIGHT IN CHICAGO THURSDAY WILL BE OVER NATIONAL CHAIRMANSHIP.

Roosevelt Men Will Try to Seat Howell, Chosen for Place in the Nebraska Primaries.

By The Associated Press.
Chicago, June 2.—Friends of Colonel Roosevelt announced today that the first real test of strength between their candidate and President Taft will come next Thursday when R. B. Howell of Omaha, national republican committeeman-elect from Nebraska, will demand to be seated as the successor of Victor Roosevelt, acting chairman of the national republican committee, prior to the hearing of contests by that body.
The Roosevelt managers are prepared to make a determined fight to have Mr. Howell seated, after which they will demand that Borden D. Whiting of New Jersey, Thomas H. Underhill of Missouri, and other national committeemen-elect, chosen either by direct primary or state convention, be seated.
May Control Committee.
By this means they hope to succeed in controlling the national committee and deciding whether Senator Elihu Root of New York shall be recommended as temporary chairman of the convention.
Harry S. New, chairman of the sub-committee on arrangements for the convention, declined to discuss the plans of the Roosevelt leaders but intimated that he believed the national committee would not seat Mr. Howell or any other committeeman-elect until after the adjournment of the convention. He expressed the opinion that the national committee would approve of the selection of Senator Root as temporary chairman and endorse the plan adopted for the distribution of convention tickets.

Comes "Armed."
Mr. Howell today, armed with a certificate signed by Gov. Aldrich of Nebraska, and the secretary of state, auditor, treasurer and attorney general of the state setting forth that he was regularly elected to the office April 19, 1912, arrived in Chicago.
Mr. Howell, after conferring with Secretary Sims of the national Roosevelt committee, issued the following statement:
"I have heretofore made no public statement as to my intentions in the matter of claiming a seat in the republican national committee when that body meets next Thursday to consider the claims of contesting delegates. However, some time ago I did communicate my views to the managers of the Roosevelt campaign, respecting my right to immediate recognition as the national committeeman from Nebraska.
Entitled to Seat.
"There can be no question that I am under the laws of the state the only person entitled to act as national committeeman from Nebraska. I have a certificate of election issued by the Nebraska secretary of state and I have qualified to assume my duties as national committeeman as provided by law.
"As to whether I will be allowed to perform the functions of the office will depend solely upon whether the national committee when I present my credentials will recognize the primary laws of the state of Nebraska.
"As I understand it the national committee had already adopted a rule recognizing such laws. Hence it would appear that the committee must grant me my seat or else it will make an exception in the application of its rule in favor of its acting chairman.
His Duty, Howell Says.
"I am not making any application for permission to set as a member of the national committee at this time for personal reasons. As I am the first and only national committeeman from Nebraska to be recognized by the laws of the state and to be elected by the majority of the voters of the republicanism throughout the state I believe I would not be doing my full duty unless I filed my credentials at this time, and offered to take part in the deliberations of the republican national committee when it sits in judgment on the contests before it at its meetings on and after June 6 next."

Chicago Storm Center.
Beginning tomorrow, Chicago will be the center of the fight for the nomination for president, as the headquarters of President Taft, Colonel Roosevelt, Senator La Follette and Senator Cummins will be opened here.
Jos. M. Dixon, campaign manager of Roosevelt, and W. McKinley, manager for President Taft, are expected from Washington tomorrow. Tuesday or Wednesday Chas. D. Hillis, secretary to President Taft, will arrive to remain until after the convention.
Members of the national committee are gathering to attend the meeting of that body next Tuesday and it is expected that by Wednesday every member will be here.
Five of the members already are

WISCONSIN NOT TO STAND FOR ROOT

BADGER GOVERNOR SAYS THAT STATE'S DELEGATION WILL NOT SUPPORT HIM.

Would Mean Party's Defeat, He Asserts; Shows La Follette and T. R. Men Together.

By The Associated Press.
Madison, Wis., June 2.—Gov. Francis McGovern of Wisconsin, chairman of the Wisconsin delegation to the republican national convention, in a telegram today answering an appeal by Wm. Barnes, Jr., of New York, refused the support of Wisconsin for Senator Elihu Root as temporary chairman of the convention.
Gov. McGovern's reply said that Root represented "political views and methods that should not be sanctioned at the Chicago convention," and that Root's selection would invite defeat in November.
Appeals to Each.
In a telegram to the governor, Mr. Barnes had sought the support of twenty-six Wisconsin delegates, all of whom had pledged to Senator La Follette's presidential candidacy. Mr. Barnes declared the contest to be "the most serious one which had afflicted the republican party, and that the attempt to nominate Mr. Roosevelt can lead only to disaster."

Says Root a Cave Dweller.
Gov. McGovern's telegram to Mr. Barnes was as follows:
"Hon. Wm. Barnes, Jr.,
New York City.
"Senator Root represents political views and methods that should not be sanctioned at the Chicago convention. He is a standpat statesman, while the rank and file of the republican party are progressive. The people have a right to rule and their wishes in regard to the convention and the adoption of a platform are now well known. To ignore this judgment recorded in almost every republican state from the Atlantic to the Pacific by electing Senator Root or any other temporary chairman will convict the party of insincerity and invite defeat in November."

BARNES WON'T SAY HOW MANY REFUSALS RECEIVED
Four Hundred Replies to Appeal to Support Root Had; Part Not Given.

By The Associated Press.
New York, June 2.—William Barnes, Jr., chairman of the republican state committee, admitted tonight the receipt of Gov. McGovern's telegram refusing to back Mr. Barnes' appeal for the support of the Wisconsin delegation for Senator Root as temporary chairman at the Chicago convention.

"Everybody has a right to their own opinion," said Mr. Barnes. "That is only one of over four hundred answers I have had to my widely circulated appeal; I do not see that there is anything for me to say further in comment."

"Will you say how many of your replies have been favorable to your appeal?" he was asked.
"Not at this time," he replied.

here. They are Harry S. New of Indiana, David W. Mulvan of Kansas, Pearl Wright of Louisiana, Ralph E. Williams of Oregon and Frank G. Lowden of Illinois.
Boise Penrose of Pennsylvania, and a number of other members of the national committee are expected Tuesday. Former Senator Chas. Dick of Ohio, who is to handle the contests for President Taft before the national committee, will be here tomorrow morning and Armistead Harg, who is to represent Roosevelt in the matter of contests, is expected to arrive tomorrow evening. Both will remain here until after the national committee concludes the hearing of contests.
New Contest Received.
Secretary William Hayward of the national committee, received one new contest today. It was another list of delegates at large from Florida which makes three seats chosen at large from that state, two Taft and one Roosevelt delegate.

By The Associated Press.
Havana, June 2.—Estenez, the real leader of the negro insurgents, has destroyed the town of La Maya, on the branch line of the Cuba railway, 30 miles from Santiago. The government gave out this information tonight. A column of regulars, commanded by Major Sanguliy, had occupied La Maya for the last two days, but sallied forth last evening in search of insurgents. But hardly had the regulars left when Estenez, with 800 men attacked the handful of rurales. Citizens armed themselves, and attempted to oppose the insurgents, but were compelled to retreat, losing several wounded.

Estenez then entered the town, which he burned and sacked. The flames were seen by Major Sanguliy's command, which hastened back, but found the town destroyed. The insurgents retired into the hills. La Maya was a small place composed of about 70 houses. The inhabitants were mostly negroes.

Threaten to Burn.
Reports from the scene of hostilities say that the rebel leaders continue to exact contributions of arms and money from property owners, mostly foreigners, under threat of applying the torch. The government is making strong efforts to supply plantation guards, but seemingly lacks sufficient men without depleting the ranks of the troops in active service.

Attack White Women.
The government received a dispatch tonight from San Luis stating that negroes entered a hamlet near that place, attacked three white women and looted the stores. This apparently is within the lines of the regular troops.

Havana Rising Rumored.
Rumors, with a vague basis, continue to be circulated of an uprising in Havana province. It is alleged that hardware dealers recently sold several thousand knives, daggers and machetes to negroes.
Eugenio La Costa, one of the rebel leaders, has proclaimed himself governor of Tartarosa, to the north of Guantanamo. He has issued a proclamation ordering all planters and proprietors in that district to contribute $5000 and also arms and ammunition on penalty of having their estates burned.

Colonel Consuegro is reported to have engaged the rebels in the vicinity of Daiquiri, killing five of them.

CUBA FEARS DISSATISFIED LABORERS WILL REVOLT

FINANCIAL CONDITIONS OF ISLAND REPUBLIC DISQUIETING. U. S. GUNBOAT AT DAQUIRI.

By The Associated Press.
Washington, June 2.—Financial conditions in Cuba continue to be disquieting and fear is felt that dissatisfied laborers may join the revolutionary movement. Reports to the state department tonight indicate that the laborers of the Spanish American Iron Co. are thoroughly demoralized and are leaving in large numbers. Every boat carries groups of them to Santiago. Two hundred men, women and children left last night.

Marines at Hand.
A considerable force of Cuban soldiers was reported at Daiquiri, where Isonet has been demanding explosive of the superintendent and threatening destruction of the property. The American gunboat Paducah is still at Daiquiri, and if the situation grows worse the American commander will land marines under his general instructions, to prevent further menace to American life and property. No confirmation has been received of the holding by the insurgents of the Americans, Wheeler and Collier, but an apparently reliable report alleged they were safe.

The Havana legation has received reports of the partial burning of a bridge on the Guantanamo & Western railway and of threats to do further like damage.

MOTHER OF FOUR SMALL CHILDREN KILLS HERSELF

By The Associated Press.
Shreveport, La., June 2.—A special from Houston, La., to the Times says:
Despondent over continued ill health, Mrs. Ellen Hale, a wife and mother of four small children, while her husband and the attending physician were in another part of the home in consultation preparatory to having her removed from her home to a sanitarium for treatment, secured a rifle and committed suicide by firing a bullet through her heart. It is believed that the woman used her toe to manipulate the trigger of the rifle.

NOTEL WORKERS JOIN UNION THROUGH STRIKE

HUNDREDS ADDED TO MEMBERSHIP IN DAY, DECLARED: WORK WALK OUT.

By The Associated Press.
New York, June 2.—The International Hotel Workers' Union, which has embarrassed more than two score hotels and restaurants by calling out nearly 5000 waiters and cooks on strike during the past week, spent the day in reviewing its success and in adding, it is declared, hundreds of hotel workers to its membership.
Union officials said that letters by the hundreds were being received from waiters and cooks in nearby cities, expressing a desire to join the union, and it now be to strike, have quiet Sunday.

Hotel managements had a quiet Sunday, the hot weather sending thousands to the resorts, and kitchens and dining rooms were able to supply the wants.
Six of the eight rioters arrested when the waiters and their sympathizers stormed the Hotel Netherlands last night, were fined $10 each today, while the other two were held on the charge that they knocked down Detective Foy and kicked him. Foy was so badly injured that he could not appear in court.
Three Hundred Walk Out.
More than 300 waiters walked out of the Empire and Navarre hotels, the new Western apartment hotel and Pabst's Harlem restaurant tonight, according to the union officials. At the Harlem place several hundred diners were left in the lurch.

Baton Rouge, La., June 2.—Three convicts were killed, two recaptured and three escaped in a daring break for liberty at the Louisiana penitentiary quarter boat shortly after midnight. The convicts were making their way across the Mississippi river when the guards discovered them leaping from the quarter boat which had just returned from the Hymelia cove. The guards opened fire and three men sank. Their bodies were not recovered. All were white except a negro who escaped on the shore side.

The Rev. George W. Thomas, who was in charge of the affair, promised that a collection would be taken after the address at which the sum would be raised but Mr. Vandaman refused to consent to this.

GENERALLY FAIR WEATHER THIS WEEK, PREDICTED

By The Associated Press.
Washington, June 2.—The coming week will be one of generally fair weather except for local scattered thunder showers with temperatures near or above the seasonal average throughout the eastern and southern states and generally fair over the middle west.
This forecast is contained in the bulletin issued tonight by the weather bureau. The bulletin continues:
"No widespread disturbance is charted to cross the country during the week, although a barometric depression now over the far northwest will move eastward along the northern border to the St. Lawrence valley by Tuesday night or Wednesday; it will be attended by showers and followed by cooler weather in the northern states east of the Rocky Mountains."

STRIKE BREAKING AMONG NEWER CALLINGS

PROFESSIONAL, DOING NOTHING ELSE, TELLS OF WAY BUSI-NESS IS CARRIED ON.

Tackled Job First in Walkout of Chicago Beef Men and Got Away With It.

Special to The Morning News.
Baltimore, June 2.—Surely strikebreaking may be considered among the newer professions. It never occurred to you that you would ever have the pleasure of meeting a por-fessional strike-breaker until the police reporter came in one day and said: "Come and meet Captain Harry Bowen."

When the police reporter makes a suggestion, you know that it will be worth following without question,
and so you were on your way when the explanation came. "Professional strike-breaker," said the police reporter; "awful fine man."

"Awful big man, too," you thought when you were shaking hands with Captain Bowen, for he is more than six feet and broad in proportion. More than that, his jaw is a set jaw, and his features are large and give every indication of strength.

"If I were a striker," you say to yourself, "I'd rather have anyone on the scene than Captain Bowen."

"How did you ever get into such curious work?" you ask him.

"Oh, I took it up because I thought it would prove paying business," he answers carelessly.

You try again. "Are you the only strike-breaker in captivity?"

"No, several of the detective firms do strike-breaking, but only in connection with their other business," replies Captain Bowen. "I am the only man in the country,
though, who does nothing but break strikes. Are there enough of these to keep me busy? Well, I should say so."

He had the reputation of being a bad man, with several notches on his knife, but I had no trouble with him. Some time after that incident
I was reading the papers one day,
when I saw that the beef concerns were advertising for men to take the place of strikers. It struck me that I could keep their teams going, and so I went to the head of one of the companies and put it up to him. I told him I would agree to keep his teams moving if they wished, and they gave me the job. I drove the first loaded team through the streets myself and escaped no harm. The strike lasted two months, but I won it.

That settled it for me, and I became a strike-breaker in earnest, determined that if some other able-bodied man with no more nerve than I had could make strike-breaking pay him a salary of $50,000 a year,
then it was up to me.

"Have you ever been hurt?" you ask solicitously.

"Oh, yes, once or twice. Part of this car was shot away, you will see. But that is the only mark I bear. Once some dynamite was placed under a car in which I was expected to ride, and the tail end of it was blown off, but luckily I had changed my plans and had left by another route. And I have had all sorts of missiles hurled at me; but,
you see, once upon a time I was a member of the Brickmakers' union,
and so learned to dodge such things.
And Black Hand letters! Why, it's a cold old day when I do not receive two or three of them threatening my life."

"And yet I believe in labor unions.
They are good things for the men, though I think that sometimes their members are misled by demagogues. The leaders do not always consider the best interests of the laboring man. They are sometimes moved by more selfish motives."

"What was your worst strike?"
you inquire.

"Well, one of the worst ones that I have had anything to do with was in Troy when there were a lot of women involved. Women are far worse than men to handle—more violent, you know. Why, I remember that once when some of the strikers caught one of my girls they tore the clothes right off her. So thoroughly did they do the work that the policeman who ran to her assistance had to take off his coat and put it around her until he could get her under cover. How did we end that strike? Why, we simply tired the strikers out, as we do most of the time. I have won every strike which I have undertaken so far, and I hope my luck holds out. My strike-breakers are drawn from all classes of society.
I have had among them lawyers, clergymen and college men of all sorts. Some of them have worked with me simply for the excitement and because they liked a fight; others have entered the lists because they needed the money and there was work to do."

"There is a general idea that to get men to fill the places of longshoremen or stevedores is the simplest thing in the world—that the most untrained man can do the work.
But this isn't true. To adjust the tackles on the cargo to be lowered
to the holds of vessels, to lower it,
to adjust it so that the weight is evenly divided and will not shift, requires some practice. After a week or so of experience, my men do about as well as those whose places
they have taken, but they must have a little practice."

"This is the third strike of this sort in which I have taken a hand.

I won the longshoremen's strike in Boston and the stevedores' strike in New York. It is only a question of a short time before this one is settled."

"The most interesting strikes in which I have worked was the white paper strike, in which four states were involved—New York, New Hampshire, Vermont and Massachusetts. Ten thousand men were out.
The days spent on it, I may say,
were my busy ones. I had an office in Albany and my telephone bills were $100 a week. There was an automobile forever at the door ready for me to use at a moment's notice, and at a nearby railroad station there was a locomotive, with a car attached, which could puff away
just as quickly. Well, that strike was broken, too, after some weeks of persistent work on the part of my men."

"The members of my organization are drilled like soldiers. My system of caring for them demands,
first, an excellent and well-managed commissary. The food is always good and always well cooked.
I see to that, for the way to a man's courage is through his stomach.
Clean beds and good living quarters are also requisite. The men must be contented and satisfied. A doctor is an important attaché of our labor camps. We attend to the mail for our employees. In a word, everything that has to do with their comfort is attended to for them. They are guarded by expert attendants.
By this means we can keep a splendid force at work. None of my employees is allowed to drink. They receive for their work exactly what the men whose places they have taken got, and their board besides."

"The men whom I employ as guards must dress uniformly, wear
white collars and be neatly shaved.
I insist that their personal appearance and their actions shall be such as to command respect from the strike-breakers over whom they have charge. If I find one of my men carrying a weapon, I want him prosecuted. I insist that my strikebreakers treat the union men, whose places they are filling, in a gentlemanly manner. I would send my men to the aid of a union man being attacked, and I have done this."

"Where is your own seven-shooter?" you ask.

"Oh, I never carry a weapon," replies Captain Bowen lightly. "My fists are all the weapons I want; I don't bother about any other."

"But you must often be in danger."

"Perhaps I am at the beginning of a strike. You see, if there is a wagon to be driven through the streets, or some work of that sort,
do it myself. I take the initiative. Then my men, looking on,
say: 'Well, if the chief isn't afraid
there's no reason why we should be,'
and they go ahead with me labor."

"I'll tell you a class of men whom I have found very suitable to the work—street car motormen and conductors. Most of them are used to abuse and to handling discontented people, and so take whatever is said to them with comparative equanimity. After our work is organized I keep to my office and use the telephone in giving orders."

"Can you suggest any way by which strikes might be avoided,"
you inquire, admiringly at the gentleman were in the habit of studying means of breaking up his own business."

"Some of these days the government will appoint a board of arbitration by which all labor troubles will be settled. When that will be accomplished I do not know, and I am not worrying at the prospect. I have a pretty home at Yonkers, a wife and two children, and I am going to let the future take care of itself. The fact remains that the laboring man cannot do without his union for many reasons, and that modern business methods will not permit of a blockade of the wheels of industry; until the unions and the wheels of industry move as one there will probably be need of a strike-breaker."

"And what does your wife think
of your somewhat perilous profession?" you ask.

"Captain Bowen smiled amiably.
"She's almost always with me on these expeditions," he answers. "She likes to be on the field, though I do not think she feels much apprehension for my safety, for she knows my force is very well organized. I am going to Yonkers to see her on Sunday—and I'll be glad enough to be home again for even a day."

BARELY ESCAPES GRASP OF "MADRID SWINDLE"
Special to The Morning News.

Houston, June 2.—Completely taken in by the world-famous "Madrid swindle" or "Spanish prisoner swindle," as it is also known, one Houston man was saved by John D.
McClelland, manager of the Postal Telegraph-Cable company, from being victimized or worse. The man had presented a long cablegram at the office of the Postal advising some mysterious person in Spain that he was coming at once.

Scouting the swindle, Mr. McClelland asked the man a number of questions about the cablegram and finally got the story out of him.
He had been told to come to Spain, bringing what money he could. For his services in helping the "prisoner"
he was to get $500,000 in gold,
which had been buried somewhere in Spain.

The man was much excited over his chance to amass sudden wealth and it took considerable arguing with him to prove to his satisfaction that an attempt had been made to swindle him. There are cases on record where men, caught by the story, have sold out their possessions, gone to Spain with all their money and have never been heard of again.

It is believed that they are lured into dungeons on the plea that the "prisoner" is stowed away in some out of place cell and there killed or at least beaten and robbed. Mr.
McClelland declined to tell the man's name, but he said that he lived in Harris county.

"We lost a cablegram that would have paid us 49 cents a word," said Mr. McClelland, "but I guess I saved
a man's money and possibly his life."

TWO PRESIDENTS NOMINATED IN COLISEUM

TAFT AND COLONEL NAMED BY CONVENTIONS IN CHICAGO
HALL IN 1904 AND 1908.

Room for Four Hundred Newspaper Men; Place Built for Minimum of Quiet.

By The Associated Press.

Chicago, June 2.—For the third time since its erection thirteen years ago, the doors of the Coliseum will be thrown open June 18 for the accommodation of a republican national convention. In 1904 the republicans nominated Col. Theodore Roosevelt for president in the building, and in 1908 under the same roof William H. Taft was chosen as the party's standard bearer.

The Coliseum is on Wabash avenue between Fifteenth and Sixteenth streets, less than a mile from the center of Chicago's retail shopping and hotel district, and is accessible from all parts of the city by elevated railroads and surface lines.
The Coliseum is 365 feet long, 170
feet wide and 70 feet in height,
built of stone, brick, steel and concrete, and is fireproof.

It stands on the site of the old
Libby prison which was brought to Chicago from Richmond, Va., in sections and rebuilt the year of the world's fair by Charles F. Gunther and used to exhibit a valuable collection of civil war relics. It is of modern romanesque, combined with the English castellated type of architecture and cost $500,000. It has been the scene of many notable assemblages. It has eleven large exits and can be emptied in five minutes in an emergency.

The sub-committee on arrangements of the republican national convention, under the directions of Col.
Harry S. New has expended $40,000 preparing the building for this year's national convention of the republican party. The building has 11,188 seats, of which 7988 are on the main floor and 3200 in the balcony.

The speakers' platform is built against the south wall of the structure and extends across the entire width of the building. It is 75 feet deep and contains 1932 seats, which will be occupied by the chairman,
officers of the convention, members
of the national committee and distinguished guests.

The seats back of the chairman's
table will be slightly elevated, directly beneath the chairman's table
is a space for four noiseless telegraph instruments and their operators, by which news of the convention's proceedings will be flashed to the world. On both sides and extending in a half circle around the front of the platform are seats and tables for 400 working newspaper men and correspondents from all parts of the country.

Directly in front of these are the seats for the 1978 delegates arranged by states. This space will be enclosed by a railing and closely guarded by a large force of sergeants-at-arms. Back of this are the seats for the alternates, enclosed by a railing.
On both sides and in rear of the space occupied by the delegates and alternates are 350 elevated seats for visitors. At the north end of the building a special bandstand will be erected. In the balcony, which extends around the four walls of the building will be 3200 seats for visitors.

The platform, aisles and all open space will be covered with matting to insure the maximum of quiet while the convention is in session. Five hundred telephones and a large number of telegraph instruments are being installed in various parts of the building for the accommodation of delegates and the public. Architect Arthur G. Brown has arranged the seats in such a manner that the chairman's platform may be seen from every section of the large hall.

Sergeant-at-Arms William F. Stone will be assisted by a force of 800
deputy sergeants-at-arms, doorkeepers, ushers and attendants. A special telephone system is being installed
which will enable Sergeant-at-Arms
Stone, from his desk on the platform, immediately to communicate with his assistants in any part of the hall.

In the two-story annex, adjoining the main building on the south, are the offices of the republican national committee, private rooms for the use of the chairman, secretaries and sergeant-at-arms, quarters for the committees on permanent organization, credentials and resolutions, and a fully-equipped postoffice.

In addition to this, there are rooms
for the press, where scores of private telegraph wires will be installed.
On the second floor there will be a fully equipped emergency hospital, in charge of a corps of physicians and Red Cross nurses. There also will be numerous retiring rooms for men and women in the annex.

In the basement of the main building there will be a lunch counter with several thousand seats. The building will be elaborately decorated in the national colors. The exterior of the structure will be profusely decorated in red, white and blue bunting, surmounted by hundreds of large American flags.

Practically every foot of available
space of the interior will be draped with bunting and flags. Over the speaker's platform there will be a 50-foot president's flag, surmounted by two large American flags. The space on both sides of this centerpiece will be heavily draped with festoons of bunting and batteries of small flags and shields. The walls of the building will be draped with bunting and flags. The rail of the balcony also will be draped with festoons of bunting with small flags, shields and wreaths at every steel arch. The large bandstand at the north end of the building will be elaborately draped with flags, bunting and wreaths.

MEMORY OF CONFEDERACY HEAD HONORED IN WACO

BIRTHDAY OF JEFFERSON DAVIS IS OBSERVED BY LOCAL CHAPTER AND CAMP.

The exercises at the public library given by the Mary West chapter U. D. C. and the members of Pat Cleburne camp, Confederate veterans, in honor of the birthday, today, of Jefferson Davis, was held yesterday. Of the ten veterans who were to receive the crosses of honor by the chapter, only two, J. D. Kendrick and J. E. Hutto, received them, the others being absent. The ceremony attending the bestowal was conducted by Mrs. Susan Price, and Mrs. W. H. Forrester, president of the chapter.

A feature of the program was the reading of an article eulogistic of Jefferson Davis. It appeared in a recent issue of the Confederate Veteran.

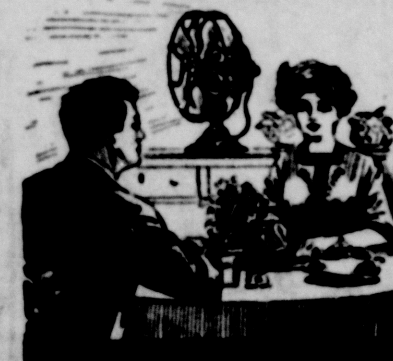

Mrs. Susan Price gave a talk on Jefferson Davis.

A recitation entitled "Jefferson Davis," delivered by Little Miss Francis Webb, concluded the program.

It was announced by Mrs. Forrester that the next and only remaining date upon which the crosses of honor may be bestowed upon the veterans is October. Then will also be honored the memory of General John B. Reagan.

REPTILE SKELETON MOUNTED.
Chicago, June 2.—A reptile 10,000,000 years old has been mounted at the University of Chicago, and will be on exhibition today for the first time. The skeleton of the prehistoric creature was found in Arizona last summer by F. W. Williston of the university.

Paul C. Miller of the department of paleontology mounted the bone framework and recreated the reptile to its supposed natural appearance. The creature is the first known land vertebrate and has been given the name of ophiacodon. Professor Williston declares that there is no skeleton in existence which has been found similar to the ophiacodon.

DELIVERS ANNUAL SERMON TO BAYLOR GRADUATES

WARNED TO BE CAREFUL AS TO KIND OF SHADOWS THEY CAST IN LIFE.

The annual commencement sermon in Carroll Chapel Sunday morning was delivered to the graduating class of Baylor University by Dr. J. L. Gross, pastor of the First Baptist church of Houston.

Taking for his text the passage, "That at least the shadow of Peter passing by might overshadow them," Dr. Gross warned the young people who are now ready to go out into the world on their own account to be careful as to the shadows they throw upon life's pathway, emphasizing that the least of them will cast a shadow, and that that shadow will have not only temporary influences but will carry with it a power either for good or for evil that will endure through both time and eternity.

And it is equally possible for the same situation to be developed among the people of today who will lay themselves out for great service," Dr. Gross continued, "and just as it was with Peter, so it is possible today for one's shadow to carry a blessing with it everywhere, and if it does not carry a blessing it most likely carries a blight. Even the humblest of us carries with us either downward or upward influences, about whom we may be unconscious, but the influence extends nevertheless.

"It is a glorious thing to live and not so grand a thing to die," the speaker said, "and as no man lives to himself he has no right to injure his neighbor. Every human life is a little stream and if you pollute your life you pollute that to which the whole stream of humanity and have injured the human race. We are directly responsible for every evil influence we set in motion in the world and will have to suffer for it. And just as a man has no right to live a mean life he has no right to live a mere negative life, or exercise a mere passive influence. The world owes us nothing but we owe the world the duty of living the largest and best life that we can live, with the talents that God has given us. Sometimes the sin of omission is greater than the sin of commission and a man is responsible to God for all the good he can do in the world.

"And the good that one can do in the world does not depend upon the outward circumstances or conditions but upon the heart. The power to achieve does not depend upon educational, wealth or social attainment, for without these a man can do a great deal of good in the world, yet if one has these and consecrates them to the service for God his power to do good is greatly enhanced. Do not be content with the good, for the good is always the enemy of the best. Be satisfied only with the noblest life and best service. God will help you in meeting this responsibility, so take His hand and say where He leads me I will follow."

In spite of the rain a large audience heard Dr. Gross' sermon. Preceding the sermon the University chorus, under the direction of Harry Johnson Spanell, sang "Sanctus" from Gounod, with Prof. Rudolf Hoffman at the organ. Dr. F. C. McConnell, pastor of the First Baptist church, and Rev. J. G. Chastain, a missionary to Mexico, offered prayers.

Last night Dr. Gross delivered the annual sermon to the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. of the university. Miss Lynn Wood played an organ prelude by Bach and the University chorus sang, "For God So Loved the World" by Stainer.

Today's program will be marked by the annual graduating music recital at 10 o'clock this morning in Carroll Chapel to which the grown-up public is cordially invited. Children will not be admitted to this program or to the faculty musical concert on Tuesday night. The performers at this recital include Miss Lynn Wood, organ, Miss B. Bettis and Miss B. Pressley, piano, Miss Sannie Cobb, violinist, and Miss Lois Noble and J. C. Mathis, voice.

This afternoon at 3 o'clock there will occur in Carroll Chapel and the library building the reunions of the Callopan and R. C. B. societies and tonight at 8:30 there will be the annual concert by the Baylor band.

Tuesday's program will be occupied with alumni exercises and the senior class day program, with the faculty concert at night, the commencement day proper on Wednesday concluding the annual event.

DISAPPOINTED LOVER HELD AS DYNAMITER
Accused of Blowing Up Home of Girl Soon to Become Bride.

Scranton, Pa., June 2.—Rivalry between two youths for the hand of Mary Lantolito, a belle of the Italian colony in South Scranton, is thought to have furnished the motive for an attempt to wreck the Lantolito home with dynamite early this morning. The girl is to be married Sunday to Peter Nister, and Tony Mellane, whose love she rejected, is a prisoner at police headquarters, charged with the dynamiting.

The explosive was placed under the front porch of the Lantolito house and it exploded at 2 o'clock this morning. The front of the building was damaged and all the windows were smashed, but the five members of the family, sleeping in upper rooms in the rear, were not hurt.

Mellane's threats that he would prevent the wedding, coupled with his presence in the neighborhood during the evening, led to his arrest.

Simply Had to Have Some One to Watch, Guard Arrests Man

Not content with merely drawing his time check on a Saturday night, Ed Anderson, employed as convict guard by the city, believes in earning his wages. During the dearth of business at the police station which has prevailed for the past few months, there have been many days when no prisoners were allotted to the boss of the city's street gang.

Anderson stood the monotony of it a few days, and drew his salary. The other day an idea hit him. He simply must produce material to be guarded by the city. Material must be had. The streets must be worked. And why not? He forthwith got busy, with the result that within a few hours a man was placed behind the city prison bars, a charge of drunkenness being registered opposite his name on the blotter, and in the column headed "By Whom Arrested," was found the name of the convict guard. The street "gang" is now visible upon the streets, and the guard is guarding.

Clad in Necktie and Pair of Slippers, Girl Dances at Club Feast
Special to The Morning News.

Pittsburg, June 2.—The police today prepared 85 warrants for that number of men said to have attended a sensational dancing exhibition in the Bavarian Society club house Sunday night. Four men were arrested today and Tiny Duesene, 21, Spanish dancer, was held for court. The warrants charge misdemeanor.

From what the police heard today from the four men brought in, the three dances, "Spring," "Oriental" and "Fig Leaf," are not terpsichorean movements usually seen in burlesque or even in "artistic" circles. Try as they would, not one of the men could remember what it was Tiny wore, other than a necktie and a pair of slippers.

Tiny tried to make some protest against being detained by the police, "who know nothing of art," but she failed to persuade the magistrate that her art was harmless even to the most prudent.

It is said she made such a hit at the party Sunday night that she was carried from the stage in a state of collapse.

ONLY HARM IN CANDY IS IN ADULTERATION
Children and Others Who Dote on Sweets Find Champion in Medical Paper.

Special to The Morning News.

New York, June 2.—The increasing consumption of candy in this country has been the subject of considerable comment at medical meetings here recently. According to the New York Medical Journal, it generally is agreed that the food value of candy is beyond dispute and that it has a therapeutic use in certain forms of heart disease.

The absence of fat, it seems, is an indication that children should not partake of it in unlimited quantities, although the only danger from eating it lies in the fact that it is often adulterated.

"It is quite probable," says this authority, "that candy used to be denied to children largely because they liked it so well. The puritanical idea that anything very pleasant must be wrong was long a dominant factor in the modeling of our lives. Happily for the children, and for many adults as well, we are coming to look with a little less suspicion upon our feelings and desires."

"In the past five years there has been an increase of $47,709,000 in the value of the candy produced in the United States. This increase undoubtedly has been influenced in no small measure by the change of attitude of the medical profession toward the matter of the consumption of candy."

The drawback in permitting the child to eat unlimited candy lies in the absence of fat. If the parent is warned to introduce sufficient quantities of the carbohydrate by insisting upon the use of butter or oils in the diet, the child may generally eat pure candy without detriment, and even with distinct advantage.

The sole danger of candy eating lies in adulteration. Common sense will eventually put a stop to all food adulteration, meanwhile the candy lover may confine his palate to confections of modest hue or to those marketed under honorable names."

MINISTERS DESTROY RUM USED IN TRIAL.
Four Out "Evidence" After 21 Illicit Dealers Are Sentenced.

Special to The Morning News.

Chattanooga, Tenn., June 2.—Twenty-one liquor dealers in the criminal court today pleaded guilty and were fined $50 and costs each and sentenced to thirty days in the workhouse on the charge of violating the state-wide prohibition law. Then the Rev. J. W. Vesey, following a prayer by the Rev. E. J. Baldwin, in which he asked God to rid the city of illicit liquor selling, poured out the whiskey used as evidence.

Evidence on which the liquor dealers were convicted was obtained by the Rev. J. W. Vesey. He bought whiskey at various saloons and turned it over to the grand jury.

The workhouse sentences were suspended because of lack of room in that institution.

TEXAS CROPS GOOD.
By The Associated Press.

Port Huron, Mich., June 2.—Edwin Burke has returned from an extended trip through the south and southwest where he has been inspecting the wheat crops, and reports conditions as being good generally, and in Texas, in excellent condition. He states that with a few more good rains the production will far exceed any previous yield.

PACIFIC COAST AD MAN IMPRESSED WITH WACO

GARNER CURRAN OF LOS ANGELES RETURNS FOR ANOTHER INSPECTION.

The recent national convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of America held at Dallas, is proving to be one of the best advertisements for the entire state of Texas. Some of the delegates have become so enthusiastic over the possibilities of trade development in this great empire that they are loathe to leave the state. Among those who are still investigating the commercial activities of Texas is Garner Curran, secretary of the ad club of Los Angeles, Cal. Mr. Curran has been a resident of the Pacific coast for 28 years; is a member of the City Planning Commission and has been interested in civic matters on the Pacific coast for a number of years.

Mr. Curran was so impressed with the 1000-mile trip through the center of Texas that he is spending two weeks going back over the same territory. He visited Waco over Saturday and Sunday and has made arrangements to run some good boosting articles in regard to this section in two of his trade journals, the Insurance and Investment News, and the Pan-American Progress.

Mr. Curran in an interview yesterday, said:

"The Amicable Life Insurance Company building has done more to advertise Waco than any other one thing, but one must visit the city itself to really appreciate the indomitable courage of the man who had the nerve to conceive of the plan for the erection of such a building and have faith in the community to carry out that plan."

"I believe," he continued, "that the wonderful fertility of the soil in this section will enable the city to keep pace with the natural development of the state, regardless of other influences, and will make it the leading commercial center."

"The convention of advertising men has opened the eyes of westerners as well as the eyes of those of the east to the latent energies that lie dormant in this great district and I believe it will result in many on the Pacific coast taking this route when visiting the east, and the formation of many business connections that will prove of benefit to both."

BRADY DAM COMPLETED.
Special to The Morning News.

Brady, June 2.—The large concrete dam which has been in course of construction near this city has been completed and the basin is rapidly filling with water. At the present time there are 12,000,000 gallons of water impounded. The filtering plant is also nearing completion and in a few weeks water will be running through the settling basin on its way to the city pipes, assuring Brady of an abundance of pure, wholesome water for all purposes.

GIRLS WIN MATES AT GAME OF CINCH.
Special to The Morning News.

Chicago, June 2.—Four young women who won an equal number of "cinch" bachelors as prizes at cinch Wednesday night, today announced their choices. Even before the games were finished the prizes said they would marry whoever won them. And after the final cards had been played each of the four said he was well pleased with his lot and would carry out the original agreement.

STUDEBAKER AUTOMOBILE TOUR ESTABLISHED IN WEST

To build, for the especial use of an automobile tour, a stretch of road over seventy miles in length, traversing a country that has heretofore been accessible only to pack animals, is the unique feat of a body of public-spirited residents of northern Arizona.

The new road connects the railroad of Ash Fork with the government reservation at Grand Canyon. The tour for which it was constructed is the first of its kind, including as it does, an aggregation of over sixty Studebaker cars, nearly all of which are owned in Phoenix, the Arizona metropolis.

When the tour was first announced, it was the intent of the Phoenix men to drive their cars to the canyon by a rough roundabout route, following the lines of the Santa Fe railroad by way of Williams. But the citizens of Ash Fork objected. They readily appreciated the fact that their own town was missing a fine chance to show itself to advantage, on the map. A committee accordingly told the Phoenix people that they would guarantee a more direct route, via Ash Fork. Then they went to work with their picks and shovels, working out half way, where they met a similarly public-spirited gang of road-builders from Grand Canyon, who had laid out the second half of the trail. The whole job was under the direction of the veteran "Bill" Bass, who antedates railroad building in that region and has been locally credited on many occasions with having dug the Grand Canyon himself. This feat Mr. Bass modestly denies, however.

The Studebaker "Flanders" 20, pathfinder for the tour, recently made the trip to the canyon over the new road. Though the car carried five men and their baggage, the run was easily made at an average speed of nearly 20 miles an hour.

The entire distance over the new road logged slightly more than 73 miles. About half was typical desert country, inhabited by prairie dogs, coyotes, a few antelope and an immense herd of wild horses. The other half is similarly arid, but rather mountainous. For more than 25 miles the road follows a tortuous valley. There is no human habitation between Ash Fork and Grand Canyon, and not a single well or stream of water, except in the rainy season, now several months past. Had an accident of any crippling kind taken place, the crew of the car would have been forced to walk to civilization. No such event occurred, however, the tourists arriving in a state of mind that enabled them to fully appreciate the majestic beauty of the great cleft through which the Colorado rushes on its way to the sea.

The new automobile route which the Studebaker tour is establishing will appeal strongly to eastern motorists in search of a new touring field. Ash Fork citizens look forward to a steady stream of travel, setting in as soon as the advantages of the trip become generally known.

In the meantime, Arizona in general is waxing increasingly enthusiastic over the tour. Among those who will take part are the governor and attorney general of the new state. Owners of E-M-F "30" and "Flanders" 20 who lived in Prescott, Tucson and other cities have asked permission to join the cavalcade, and have been assured of a welcome. The trip of the pathfinder car has been widely chronicled throughout the state. Rules are being drawn up for the event and some valuable prizes have been donated, including the "Governor's Cup," a fine trophy which will reward the winner. There is but one qualification for eligibility—the car must be a Studebaker E-M-F "30" or "Flanders" 20, entered and driven by its owner.

NEGRO ON FLOOR ON CONGRESS
Special to The Morning News.

Washington, June 2.—Southern reconstruction days were recalled to officers of the house of representatives when John R. Lynch, a negro, at one time a member of congress from the Greenville (Miss.) district, and now a major paymaster in the army, demanded and was given admittance to the floor of the house, a privilege granted to all former members of the body.

Lynch had some trouble getting on the floor. One of the doorkeepers, who hails from Georgia, declined to let him pass upon his word that he was a former member. Speaker Clark was appealed to. He sent for representative Sisson, who recalled that Lynch was a former member from the Greenville district in the days before white supremacy had been re-established in the South. The speaker thereupon issued a card to the negro, who took a seat on the Republican side.

SALESWOMEN SCHOOL OPENED.
Special to The Morning News.

Chicago, June 2.—A "School of Salesladyship," said to be the only one of its kind in the world, was begun here yesterday at one of the public schools. Thirty-five girls attended the opening session.

The school was opened after several conferences between William M. Roberts, assistant superintendent of schools, and department store managers.

The girls are taught "store arithmetic," English and a knowledge of textiles. Certain students selected by the store managers will attend the school two mornings each week, according to the arrangement.

While they are attending classes their time will go on at the store and their car fare to and from school will be paid by the proprietors of stores in which they are employed.

It is the aim of the managers to select girls from stock departments who are anxious to qualify as saleswomen.

FLOOD CARRIES OFF BABE.
Rocking Chair Holding Dead Child Found Hanging in Fence.

Special to The Morning News.

New Orleans, June 2.—One of the tragedies of the flood occurred yesterday at Melville, La., when the three-year-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Lemoine of Woodside, who was tied in a rocking chair on a depot platform, fell off and was drowned.

This morning the baby in his tiny chair was found caught in a barbed wire fence near the depot. The family had been forced by the flood to take the temporary quarters in the railroad station.

SUFFRAGIST BEATS HUSBAND

By The Associated Press.
Binghamton, N. Y., June 2.—Mrs. Dubal of this city, is believed to be the first suffragist in the United States to be given a penitentiary sentence for husband-beating. She was arrested on a warrant obtained by Mr. Dubal, who complained that in a fit of rage, she gave him a sound beating. City Judge Albert Hatchiss found her guilty and declared that if women desired men's prerogatives, they should also have men's punishments when found guilty of violation of law. He always dealt severely with wife-beaters, he said, and accordingly he sentenced her to three months in the penitentiary.

CLARK TO GET ARKANSAS VOTES

SPEAKER HAS EXCELLENT SHOW OF WINNING IN STATE CONVENTION WEDNESDAY.

Has Overwhelming Majority of Instructed Delegates Different Counties Have Already Elected.

By The Associated Press.

Little Rock, Ark., June 2.—Indications are that Speaker Champ Clark will capture the 18 delegates who will be selected by the democratic state convention which will convene here next Wednesday. In the county conventions which were held a month ago 234 of the 589 delegates to the state convention were instructed for Clark. Only one county with 3 delegates instructed for Woodrow Wilson. The remainder of the delegates are uninstructed.

To Go to Clark.

The forces of Congressman Joe T. Robinson, the democratic nominee for governor, will be in complete control of the state convention and it is expected that Mr. Robinson's strength will be thrown to Clark. As only 57 delegates are needed besides those already instructed for Clark, it is conceded that the Clark forces will have little difficulty in controlling the convention. The Harmon and Wilson leaders probably will make a fight for an uninstructed delegation or to prevent the delegation from being bound by the unit rule.

Jeff Davis on Delegation.
The convention will elect four delegates at large and 14 district delegates, the latter being selected in caucuses by the delegates from each congressional district. If instructions are given they will bind the entire delegation. It is expected that the delegates at large will be Senator James P. Clarke, Senator Jeff Davis, Congressman Joe T. Robinson and John Hinemon, former superintendent of public instruction.

Clark Men Claim Victory.
The Clark adherents claim they will have but little trouble in securing the support of 70 of the uninstructed delegates, which would give them control of the convention.

The convention as a whole will select the delegates at large. Caucuses of the delegates from the respective districts will select the 14 district delegates, but if the convention instructs the instructions will be for the entire delegation.

NEAR-RIOT CAUSED BY LITTLE MARBLE

When White Boy Interrupts Negroes' Play, General Mixing Results.

Special to The Morning News.
Philadelphia, June 2.—Said to have participated in a near-riot which started when a white boy kicked a marble with which several colored boys were playing, three persons faced Justice Saylor in the Western police court this morning and two of them were fined.

Mrs. Seligoff of 507 West Lexington street, was fined $1 and costs on a charge of disorderly conduct. James A. Thomas (colored) of 763 Vine street, was fined $10 and costs on a charge of assault, and Mary Snowden (colored) of 756 Vine street, was discharged.

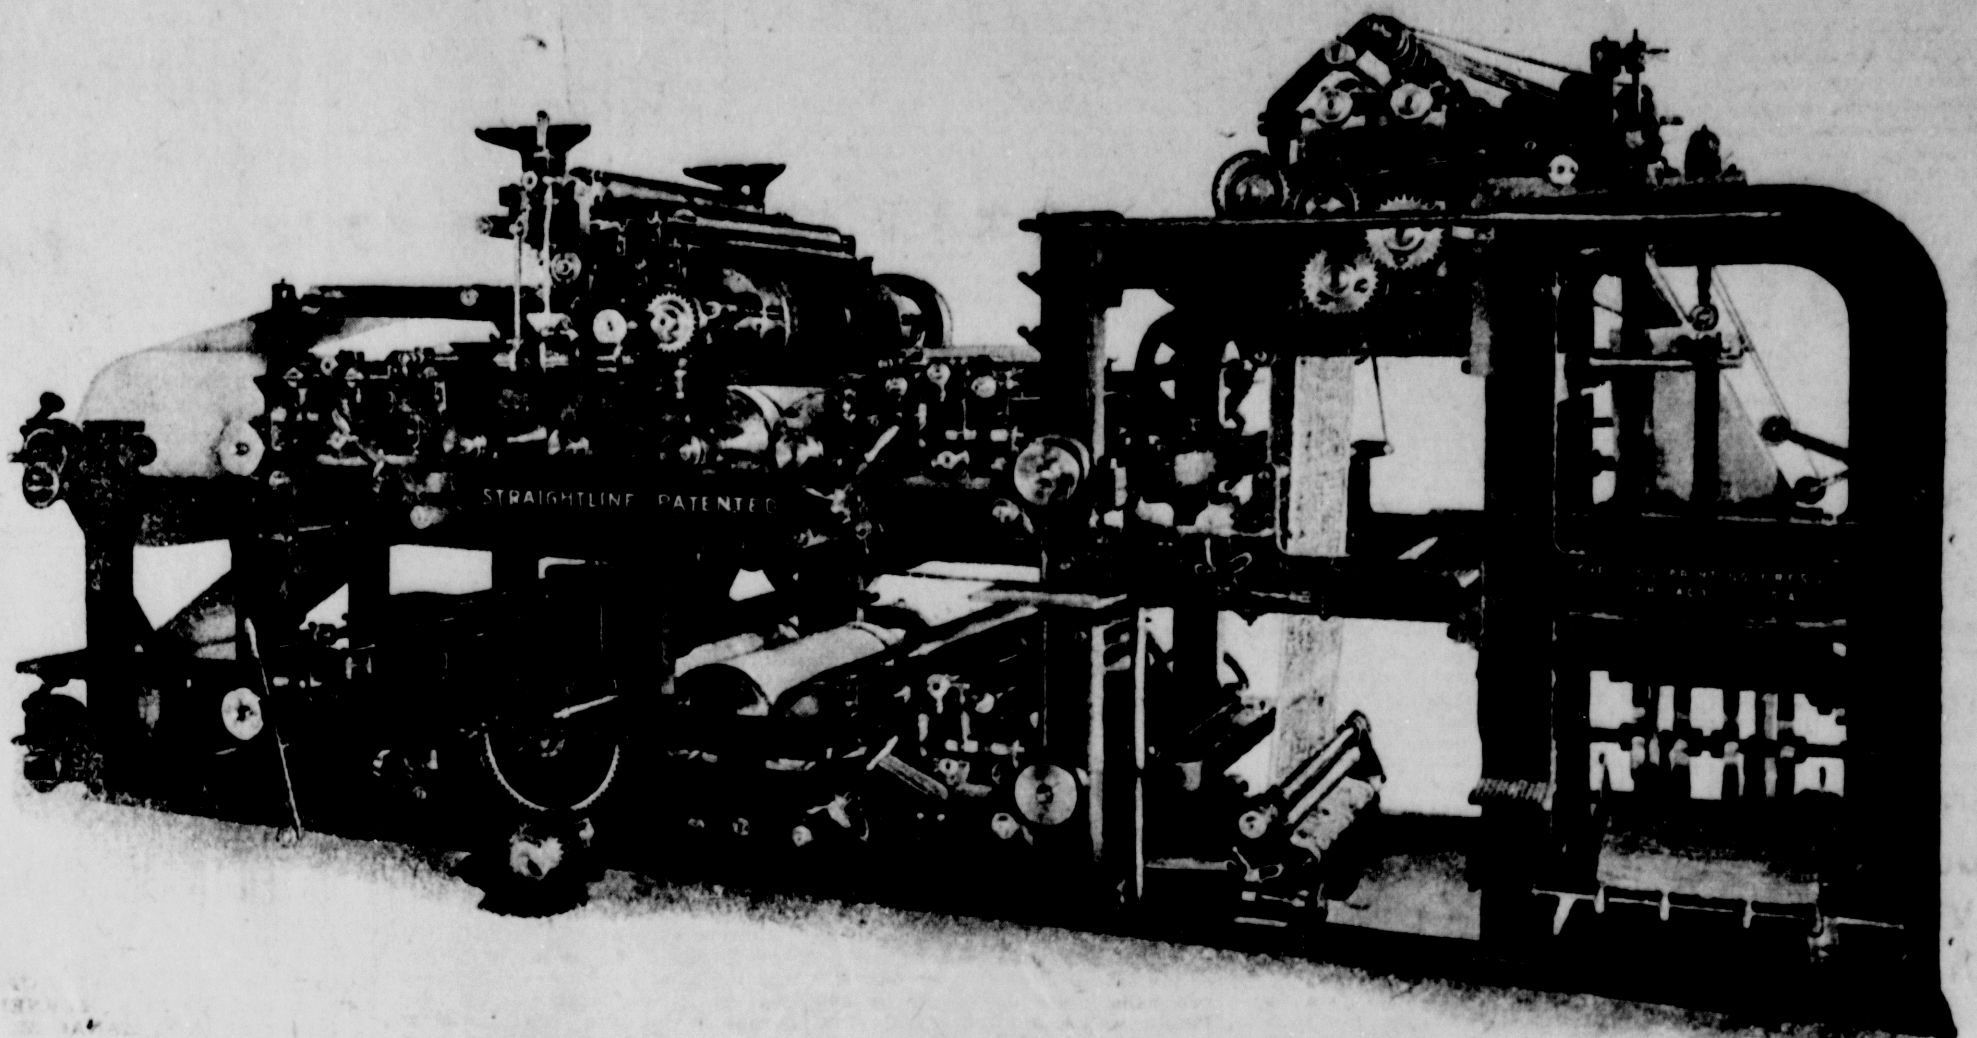

According to the evidence, the trouble started when Seligoff, who conducts a store at the Lexington street address, was taking his horse and wagon to his stable, accompanied by his young son, "Sammy." "Sammy" accidentally kicked a marble which was the center of a group of negro boys, and in an instant there was a general mix-up of parties concerned. One of the negro boys is alleged to have struck young Seligoff and the father retaliated by whipping him with his horse-whip. Thomas, who was an on-looker, then took a hand and struck the irate father over the head with a cane, inflicting a wound that required seven stitches.

The Snowden woman, a sister of the negro boy who started the fight, stood off and threw bricks at the elder Seligoff, but, fortunately, none of them struck him. As Sergeant Schumann was placing Thomas under arrest, Mrs. Seligoff appeared upon the scene and struck him behind the ear with her fist.

Somebody insists the children need fewer precepts and more good examples.

HOUSES HUSTLE TO GET DONE AND AWAY

SENATORS DO NOT LOOK FOR ADJOURNMENT BEFORE JULY OR AUGUST; MUCH TO DO.

Efforts Will Be Made to Rush Government Supply Measures Through in Hurry.

By The Associated Press.

Washington, June 2.—Appropriation bills will be pressed, the tariff revision fight continued, the Lorrimer election case debated, and other legislation discussed in congress this week. Every effort possible is being made to get the government supply measures through on a right of way in both houses so that they may be secure, regardless of a time for final adjournment which still is speculative.

Probably in July.

"Probably in July," was the guess today of Senator Smoot of Utah, one of the republican leaders, while some of the democratic senators, including Senator Culberson of Texas, said they believed an adjournment in August more likely. A few senators still believe there is a bare chance for adjournment this month.

The fight on the naval appropriation bill will be precipitated in the senate probably late in the week with the indications favoring the administration's two battleship annual increase program.

The committee on naval affairs already had tentatively added to the house bill a $500,000 appropriation for the establishment of coal and other fuel depots for warships. This is considered by the war department as an absolute necessity at this time to carry out its comprehensive scheme of providing stores of coal at strategic points. The next project to be taken up will be to provide for a store of coal of 100,000 tons at the Norfolk navy yard, which is to be made one of the most important coal depots on the Atlantic coast.

More Admirals Wanted.
The appropriation for the Pearl Harbor dry dock has been increased by the committee so as to make the total limit of cost $3,486,500. The committee, so far as it has proceeded, favors an amendment to re-establish the grade of admiral at $12,000 annual salary and the grade of vice-admiral at $10,000 pay, to be conferred on the first and second in command of each of the Atlantic and Pacific fleets. Democratic senators may upset this plan.

The committee will recommend authority or liberal expenditures by the navy to test the practical working value of hydro-aeroplanes in fleet operations. Tomorrow the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill, including the retention of the commerce court voted against by the senate, will be considered by the senate, and the sundry civil appropriation bill, involving a probable fight on the president's traveling allowance and Pan-American canal expenditures will be reported in the house.

The investigation of the charges against Judge Archibald of the commerce court, will be resumed by the house judiciary committee and the senate amendments to house metal tariff revision bill will be considered by the house ways and means committee with probable disagreement to the Canadian reciprocity bill repeal rider. The horse chemical tariff revision bill is pending in the senate this week.

SAYS WOMEN SOON TIRE OF POLITICS
Australian Doctor Declares They Quickly Lose Desire To Cast Ballots.

Special to The Morning News.

Baltimore, June 2.—"If you want to keep women out of politics," said Dr. Thomas Flaschi of Sydney, Australia, "give them the vote. It acts as a capital damper. The minute they get it right away they begin to lose interest, and in a short time hardly any of them vote."

Dr. Flaschi is a surgeon who has been traveling about visiting hospitals and has come to Baltimore to see the Hopkins. He is now stopping at the Belvedere hotel.

"I have noticed the way universal suffrage worked in our own country. The women stay at home and mind their families and they don't have the time to go out and vote or take part in politics."

"I think that this is, in part, due to the fact that almost all our women are married, which is not so much the case in the United States. We have more men than women in Australia. It's a new country, and we have many young men coming out from home, so that women are in demand and most of them find husbands."

"Here the number of bachelor ladies," as I believe you call them, is large, and as they have no family interest, they take more interest in asking for the vote. Our women hardly asked for it at all when it was given them."

"Well, I suppose these bachelor ladies' would be slower to forget to vote than our women were, but I think they would in the end. Just give it to them and sooner or later they'll forget to use it."

LIKE BUCCANER DAYS TO HIM

Special to The Morning News.

Baltimore, June 1.—If it had been the days of buccaners, Captain Walter of the British steamer Barby, in port yesterday from Huelva, Spain, said he would have felt squeamish on May 8 in latitude 35 degrees 1 minute north and longitude 8 degrees 56 minutes west.

A rakish two-masted schooner sailing southward was seen maneuvering about in the course of the Barby, and while no signals were set on the stranger, Captain Walter held his path and soon was close to it.

The decks of the stranger were filled with black men—50 were counted—and among them were three women of darkest hue. Slowing down to see if aid was needed, two negro coal heavers appeared on the Barby's deck. Then in an unknown tongue and with cheers the colored crew of the schooner hailed with delight their colored brethren on the steamer.

Captain Walter put his ship full speed ahead and as he passed, he read on the schooner's stern "Clarence Comte, Providence, S. T." There is no such vessel registered in British Lloyd's register.

Kingston, N. Y., June 2.—When John B. Crispell of Old Hurley, appeared before Judge Cantine in county court as a juror he wore a beard that almost hid his features and hair reaching to his shoulders.

In 1884 Crispell backed Mr. Blaine against Mr. Cleveland and wagered that if Mr. Cleveland was elected he would never again shave or cut his hair. He has kept his bet.

CONVERSIONS ARE MANY AT BIG REVIVAL

EVANGELIST HAM TELLS MEN JACK JOHNSON IS IDOL OF SPORTING CLASSES.

"Peace in the Devil" Is Subject of Night Sermon—Tuesday Designated Rest Day.

A day of many conversions and increasing interest marked another Sunday of the big union meeting on Franklin street last evening. The usual packed throng for Sunday night was quite comfortable after the rain.

Evangelist Ham called for a count of business men, lawyers, bankers and others who were present last night.

"I want to see if you fellows who are getting the benefit of this meeting are here, or whether you are sitting back to let us make a moral town for you," was the way the evangelist put it.

The solo by Mr. Ham, "Sweet Peace," was so effective it was taken up by the choir and congregation with evident influence on everybody.

After dismissal last night, a large company tarried for quite a while until a number of conversions were secured.

A big crowd of men heard Evangelist Ham at 3:30 on "Weighed and Found Wanting." He took up the ten commandments of the Old Testament one by one and applied them to the modern sins of men. He said in part:

"There are more idol worshippers in America than in any country on earth. Every man's ideal is the idol which he worships. Some men worship sport. Just to have a good time is their aim. The present hero of this crowd is Jack Johnson.

"No nation can survive that neglects the Sabbath. Every nation of history has rotted in its own sins except the Israelites, and that's because they have observed in a measure the laws of God for health and sanitation.

"God has made man in such a way that he needs one day's rest in seven. You can't disregard God's law without penalty."

"Peace in the Devil" was the unusual subject of the evangelist last night. He said in part:

"This is the day of dope. The doctors have got so they can relieve a man from almost any pain. Few men die in their right minds because they are doped to keep them from feeling."

"So the devil has a lot of you folks doped to sleep so you can't feel your danger. You are tonight as near to hell as you are to the grave."

Mr. Ham gave a thrilling description of the Iroquois theater fire in Chicago and the San Francisco earthquake, and said:

"If I had cried before these doomed crowds, 'Prepare to meet thy God!' they would have called me crazy. But suddenly they were hurled into eternity."

Week's Program.

Tuesday will be rest day for the meeting. There will be no service that day, either morning or evening. This is for the purpose of giving the workers a rest in order to redouble energy.

Wednesday night will be for men

only again instead of Thursday as formerly announced.

Services every morning at 10 o'clock and every evening at 8 o'clock except Tuesday. Open for everybody.

There will be shop meetings frequently during the week. The evangelists and pastors are ready to go to any factory or shop and hold service at the noon hour or other convenient time.

LIBERAL OFFERS CAUSE SENSATION

The story appearing in Sunday's issue of the Waco News that the Alamo, Dixie and Cozy theaters' popularity contest would give $15,000 worth of prizes to some of Waco's lucky ones created a sensation. Every one expressed amazement at the value of the prizes. The first prize, the Alamo theater, complete as it stands, and the beautiful, big $1800 Jackson touring car which will be the second prize, caused everybody to speculate as to their chances of winning them.

There is no doubt that some of the members of organizations are putting on their thinking caps about the fine organization prize which is nothing more nor less than a choice of either an auto, piano player, a Chickering or a Ibach, and Grand upright, coming from Leybo Music Co., and valued at $400. The management of the contest says it will spring more surprises in a day or so, with more prizes, that those offered are only starters. Everyone should get busy right now and nominate a friend or themselves and get started. There will be plenty of prizes to satisfy everybody.

A nomination coupon is printed in another part of the paper. Cut it out as it has a double value if used before June 30. If there is anything you don't understand, ring up the contest department, No. 2355 either phone, or see the contest manager at the Alamo or Dixie theaters.

In case of a tie, prizes will be divided equally.

KISSING DAY IN ENGLAND.
Every woman in Hungerford, England, is sure of being kissed once a year.

There isn't a female in that town who can boast she is 40 and never been kissed. Even Anne Benson, who is 91, was given a rousing smack a few days ago when the historic town celebrated Hockney Tuesday.

On this eventful day a town crier follows ancient tradition and marches through the old town's streets declaring that the kissers are here. Then the two official kissers, who were James Blake and Anthony Bosher this year, saunter forth and plant a kiss on the lips of every woman in the town. Young and old alike are favored. Women in the handsome villas are treated the same. From sunrise to sunset the official oculars must continue their task, with only a short intermission for dinner. They must also shower oranges and pennies on the maids of the town as a solace for the injury they suffer in being kissed, for, of course, all of them are unwilling.

IRON AND STEEL.
By The Associated Press.
New York, June 2.—One of the most interesting features of the iron industry is the inadequate supply of labor at blast furnaces, coke ovens and mines. Apparently production has reached its full limit for the time being, although specific orders for delivery of finished material is unabated. It is not a question of wages, but foreign laborers have been attracted by new developments in Brazil. Another important feature is the movement among eastern furnaces against paying the prices demanded for local ores and the placing of some contracts for South American ores.
Activity continued in nearly all branches of finished material last week and although new orders booked were less heavy than due, business in May was greater than in April. Contracts placed for railroad equipment during the month called for one million tons of finished products and it is said that the total contracts aggregated more than 2,000,000 tons.
Orders booked by the United States Steel corporation in May are estimated at 1,450,000. Railroad contracts included 41,000 cars, 540 locomotives and 60,000 tons of bridge material. Structural orders placed by railroads were the heaviest since June, 1910. The principal rail contracts last week include 30,000 tons of rails for the Illinois Central, 3000 cars for the Pennsylvania and 6000 tons bridge for the St. Paul.
Numerous contracts were placed for steel buildings and highway bridges aggregating more than 20,000 tons.
CENTRAL TEXAS FORECAST.
The following business forecast has been issued by the First National Bank of Waco:
"Particularly for the reason that this is a presidential year, it has not been expected that the improvement in conditions shown during the early weeks of the year would continue and the improvement itself gain in volume. Bank clearings for April exceeded March by a half billion dollars, exceeded April, 1911, by more than 2 1/2 billions, and exceeded the best previous April figures, by a billion dollars. Clearings outside of New York City were 100 million dollars heavier in April than in March, 800 millions in excess of April last year, and a half billion dollars greater than April 1910, the previous high figure for April.
The best business conditions are or at least better and more business through the central part of the country is about normal.
Conditions in Waco and Central Texas are very satisfactory. A splendid crop has been made and this will materially relieve the feed situation. Corn and cotton crops are in fair condition, but corn must have rain very soon to insure a good yield. Waco continues to forge ahead, more rapidly, we believe, than any other Texas city. The grading on the interurban from Waco to Dallas is progressing rapidly. Already one-third of the roadbed is ready for track laying. The Katy has begun actual work on the mammoth terminals and shops. Thousands of dollars will be paid out during the summer months for labor and we expect business will be good in all lines.
FINANCIAL REVIEW.
By The Associated Press.
New York, June 2.—There was a further growth of the tendency to dullness and heaviness in last week's stock market speculations. The holiday in Europe Monday and Tuesday Thursday partly accounted for the indisposition to extend speculative ventures. Political considerations played their part also.
The effect of the presidential campaign in halting the progress of general business up to this time is reported to be slight and this is an influence in keeping up a certain confidence. But that business activity will continue unaffected by new elements in the political situation, which are along unexpected lines, seems sufficient doubt to be accounted a factor in the halt of market operations.
A spirit of caution is manifested still in mercantile demands for future stock. So persistent is this tendency, in spite of the renewal and reopener business in a strained way, that the question arises whether a permanent change in method has grown out of the reliance on the manufacturer to carry stock, owing to the inability thus far to secure quick delivery. This ability seems to be strained in the iron and steel trade, where pressure is pronounced to secure early deliveries on various grades of crude and semi-finished products.
The fact that the railroads continue to order equipment is considered a good sign. Their necessities growing out of a long period of retrenchment explain this buying rather than any manifest growth of prosperity as shown by reports of earnings. April returns of net earnings of railroads show the pinch of heavy operating cost still in effect. Anthracite carriers were affected also by the suspension of mining during the month.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.
By The Associated Press.
New Orleans, June 2.—The main event in the cotton market this week will be the first bureau report on condition. It will be issued Tuesday at 11 o'clock, New Orleans time. It will carry the crop down to May 25 and is generally expected to be bullish, popular opinion being that the percentage will be around 75 per cent of the normal, as compared with 87.8 per cent a year ago and 82 per cent two years ago.
Some bulls expect as low as 75 and some bears look for as high as 80. Private bureau reports last week of 78 and 79.4, respectively, however, seemed about to fit in with more conservatism, the first figure being the more popular.
This first bureau report is not considered of any great importance because of the fact that on May 25 there was still much cotton to plant and still much cotton to come up from seed that had been planted. It is impossible to give out much information concerning crops not yet above ground, which was the argument used to postpone the acreage report by the government until July.
Many cotton men think the first report on condition should not be issued until June 25 instead of May 25. It is very likely that a condition of 78 would not cause much movement in prices. A report of 75 would put up prices sharply.
A report of 80 undoubtedly would cause a slump. It is not likely the figures, whatever they are, will have any permanent effect on the market because of the reason given above. With the first condition report out of the way, the trade will devote more attention to the weather, which will have much to do with the course of prices. Since May 25 the weather has been favorable over almost the entire belt and a continuance of good weather will give the bear side the advantage.
Many people will soon begin to get pronounced ideas on the acreage, but it is probable important estimates will be withheld until nearer the time of the government report. For the first time this season mill takings last week were below those of the same week a year ago, being 195,000 bales against 207,000 the same week a year ago. This served to bring statistics into prominence again and the bears will be quick to seize upon any more unfavorable statistics that may develop in the statistical position. However, it is likely the market will continue to be governed by the weather.

CONDORY IS QUIETED WITH A SCANTLING
Alleged Assaults of Mrs. Cudaby Rejected Into Submission at Municipal Farm.
Special to The Morning News.
Kansas City, June 2.—In an attempt to carry out his threat to get out of the municipal farm if he had to snoot his way out, William J. Condory, the alleged assailant of Mrs. Edna Cowen Cudaby at her home in Pasadena, Cal., yesterday afternoon was so badly pummeled by four guards as to put him on the sick list for a couple of days. He is suffering from several minor scalp contusions and a large one inflicted by a scantling in the hands of W. E. Calhoun, foreman of the carpenter squad.
When Condory was "dressed in" at the farm a few days ago he told Dr. E. W. Claveriness, the superintendent, that he intended to get out of it if it took a gun to do it. He was informed that his chances for obtaining forcible egress would be limited and thereafter he was under the watchful eyes of a guard.
The first billet awarded Condory was an easy one. He was allowed to help in the office, a job for which he was amply fitted by education, but he would not work. Then he was put to work with the construction gang, and right there he balked hard.
"I won't do a tap of work," Condory proclaimed. Calhoun, the foreman, tried to reason with him, and the prisoner used a piece of board in rebuttal. Calhoun's loud shout for help brought four guards running to the scene of the scuffle, and for five minutes they "mixed things" with Condory. When it was all over Condory was taken to the hospital department, where his wounds were dressed. The gash on the back of his head was found to be about four inches long.
Condory is supposed to have followed Mrs. Cudaby here from Pasadena, where he is said to have attempted to assault her. He was arrested soon after he arrived here, confined at the General Hospital and then sent to the municipal farm. He is thought to be insane.

BLAMES WIRES FOR HIGH LIVING COST
Harry B. Wolf Would Bar Market Prices From Telegraph and Ticks.
Special to The Morning News.
Washington, June 2.—In the regulation of the telegraph and telephone is the remedy for the high cost of living, according to former Congressman Harry B. Wolf, and he believes congress can pass laws which will bring relief in short order. He believes that if an act were passed making it a serious offense to send the prices of materials necessary in the household over the wires the dealers would soon come down to a better regulation of things and there would be no more trouble.
"The abuse of the telegraph and the telephone is to blame," he said. "Sounds funny, doesn't it? Nobody would believe that these two elements are responsible for hunger and lack of clothing, but it's the truth. It's on the wires that the trouble over the high cost of living exists."
"Don't talk to me about your Sherman laws and other laws. They're all very fine in their way, but they won't stop the high cost of living. It's up to congress to pass an act making it a serious offense to put the market prices on the wires. Then the dealer will sell his stuffs at a reasonable profit without shoving up the cost every time he reads the ribbon on the ticker or hears the prices over the telephone. The little fellow will have a chance then. So will the women folk and the children, and there will be a better regulation all around. I don't blame the dealers for wanting a profit but it ought to be reasonable."

PRICE OF BEER RAISED.
By The Associated Press.
Chicago, June 2.—The wholesale price of beer is to be raised 50 cents a barrel tomorrow, according to an announcement made by the official organ of the local Brewers' Association. This is the third increase within eight months. Increases in the price of barley and malt were given as reasons.
Retailers say that the ultimate consumer will be the sufferer, although the price of a glass of beer will still be a nickel. They say that the latest increase must be met by one of three things by saloonkeepers who desire to remain in business. Glasses must be smaller, they must be thicker, or if the old glasses are used, a bigger "collar" must decorate the tops.
"RHS" ARE GIVEN A BATH.
Special to The Morning News.
Evanston, Ill., June 2.—Six students of Garrett Biblical Institute, a school affiliated with Northwestern University, were "ducked" in Lake Michigan last night by a crowd of fifty college students.
The ducking came as a part of an annual custom which usually is carried out in the fall. The college students refer to it as "giving the Bible a bath." For several weeks last fall policemen were assigned to see that the annual programme was not carried out and it was not.

EGYPTIAN DEODORIZER AND AEROPUME.
While an obnoxious odor is not necessarily harmful, it may cause no end of annoyance and discomfort. Most of the so-called deodorizers are more offensive than the odors they are intended to dispel. The purpose of the Egyptian Deodorizer and Aeropume is to provide a convenient and practical device, instantly available, thoroughly efficient and pleasing to popular taste.
All odors arising from cooking and odors that arise around the home are soon dispelled by their use. They drive away flies and mosquitoes. They are especially nice to use before an "at home," as they act both as a deodorizer and a perfume, leaving an Oriental perfume to the rooms that is so much desired. Try them once and you will not be without them.

Editorial Page of Waco Morning News

The Morning News was first projected during January, 1911, in what was formerly the largest unoccupied newspaper field in existence. Its phenomenal success has been due to a combination of circumstances, chief among which was the fact that the people tired of the galling disgrace of having been the largest one-newspaper city in the United States. The simple and unanswerable argument that the News is now the only newspaper in all of middle Texas that carries or can possibly carry the complete dispatches of the Associated Press every day and the further fact that the News has forged to the front place as a happy realization of our prediction of eighteen months ago. Today marks a new era in the history of Waco's newspapers, also in the prosperity of the best city in Texas. By the late afternoon we expect to begin hauling to the plant the solid carloads of high-speed machinery built for the News. This means the first metropolitan color press ever to be installed in Central Texas and means that the Waco News will become to Waco what the Dallas Morning News has been to Dallas. And the Dallas News came very near being established in Waco instead of Dallas. Think what Waco would have been had this resulted! That is another chapter in the story, to come later.

The News has not dabbled deeply in politics, nor yet in any affairs of others, believing soundly in the intelligence of its constituents, but it has stood for the strongest principles of human life advocated by an unmuzzled press. Its results thus far attest the commendation of such a policy. What the News will do is to help largely in building Waco. It already has done a good deal in this new era of Waco's advancement.

The graduating class at the Itasca school was remarkable in that it consisted of eight boys and no girls. Usually the girls outnumber the boys two to one or more. Boys are prone to get the wanderlust, and then they want to quit school, and it is such a hard strain on parents to keep them in school that they give up, and let the boys have their way. This will naturally place the girls in the responsible positions, because if they continue to outnumber the boys in the graduating classes, they will eventually be the best educated, which will fit them better than the boys for the responsibilities and the duties of life. Itasca has set a good example, and it ought to be emulated by more towns and cities in Texas. At least, the girls should not outnumber the boys, for the mothers of this country must be educated or the race will deteriorate, for the education and the training of the children depends upon the mothers. A child who has an ignorant, indifferent mother will be apt to grow up without the necessary qualifications to good citizenship. The mothers are the ones from whom the children get their character, their moral strength and their high ideals, for the mothers have the closest contact with the children, and the duties of raising them fall much heavier on the mother than on the father. But it must not be forgotten that fathers ought to make the living for the family, and to do this he must in this day and generation have a good education to do so. Parents will have to be more determined that their boys continue in the high school until they graduate there, and, if possible, send them to some higher institution of learning and fit them for some particular vocation in life. Parents are responsible for the lack of interest in education of their children, for they are either too busy to see that they do what they ought to do. While pushing the boys to higher effort don't forget the future mothers of this great country.

There is considerable talk these days about wearing hats in church. Some people do not believe that women should pull off their hats, because scripture admonishes the women to keep their heads covered in church. But when the sacred writer told the women to keep their heads covered in church he did not mean for them to wear bird cages, cuspidors and waste baskets, or roosters and fruit of different kinds, for in those days the women covered their heads with mantillos or scarfs, which did not obstruct the view in the least. We must know something of the customs and the history of the times before we can thoroughly understand what the sacred writers are intending to portray. A woman with a big picture hat ought to take it off at church just the same as at the theater, and if she must keep her head covered she can do so with a thin scarf.

As long as a man has a friend he is of some use in the world, and he is doing some good in the world. Service is the only thing worth while, and he who does no service can have no friends. Strive to do all the good you can as you pass along, and you will always have friends, who will love you while you live, and grieve when you are gone. The more you do for others the happier you will be in this world and in the world to come.

The spirit that hates the success of an institution because forsooth it compels improvement of your own narrowed ways, is the spirit that dries one's power for good. Help your competitor if you can, but if you cannot, do not circulate false reports intended to hurt him. It's the most contemptible of all tricks.

Just Because I Growled a Little : : Drawn for The News by Nell Brinkley

(WITH APOLOGIES TO THE DOG THAT "GROWLED A LITTLE.")

That's the way with a girl—she always 'specks love-affairs to run smooth as an auto speedway—always 'specks love to smile and never frown—and when he just once gets a spell, and growls a little at her, she goes and puts him "in the cooler." Haven't you heard 'em say, "I won't ever love any man again?"

THE ONLY DEMOCRAT

Written Especially for The Waco Morning News by Elbert Hubbard.

ABOVE all things this age stands for temperance, industry, economy, efficiency. The parasite and the barnacle were never in such bad repute as they are today. Men who insist on throwing money to the English sparrows supply amusement, but they do not command respect.

For the first time in the history of the world we are agitating the proposition of getting government on a business basis. We are eliminating the economic slack and taking up lost motion.

The highest ambition of every good business man today is to be a good public servant, and this was the controlling impulse in the heart of Thomas Jefferson.

Thomas Jefferson carried no excess baggage. He was 5 feet 10 and weighed 150 pounds. He used all the body he had.

He rode horseback until his eightieth year. Two particular horses that he owned and loved have come down to us in history. One is Wildare and the other is Eagle.

The horse Eagle Thomas Jefferson rode up the hill to the capitol. There he tied old Eagle to a post and went in and took the oath of office as president of the United States. Not only did he do this once, but four years later he did the same thing, riding the same horse.

Was any horse ever so honored before? To have carried on his back the kingliest man that America has produced on such a momentous errand, not only once, but twice—and twice was enough.

The last time that President Jefferson took the oath of office he had to elude a valiant captain of militia, who insisted on acting as escort for him.

Jefferson simply beat him to it, and after taking the oath of office, he mounted Old Eagle, turned his head toward the White House and rode on an easy trot down Pennsylvania avenue. He met the escort in brass buttons, gilt and braid and feathers coming up the street, looking for their man. Jefferson declined their invitation to turn about and ride at their head, circling the capitol, on the plea that he had work to do.

To him there was something greater than military display; something nobler than to make a noise and attract attention. And that one thing to him was to serve humanity.

Jefferson was a great writer and had a peculiar, distinct literary style, all his own. He gave us a lesson in the use of the period. His verb always fetches up. He said things clearly, distinctly, succinctly, forcibly and well.

The idea was clear in his mind, and he had skill to express it just as clearly on paper.

He could not make a speech, however. He was no orator. And the few times he attempted to speak in public he always carried his manuscript with him. There was one time when he attempted to make a speech without his manuscript and failed, sitting down without giving his message.

Jefferson had founded the University of Virginia, and the enterprise was fairly under way when some of the students were guilty of gross misconduct.

Jefferson believed in the honor system. He founded the public school system of America on this idea. He had such faith in humanity that he believed if the scholars were not too much interfered with that they would do what was right, best and proper. Jefferson believed in the divinity of the child. His faith was in the "demos."

Jefferson said, "That country is governed best that is governed least."

He believed in doing away with corporal punishment. He did not believe in the death sentence. He did not believe in slavery, and by his will all of his slaves were freed. And these slaves he had not bought; they came to him by inheritance and were a part of his family.

But on the particular occasion in mind, when the boys had forgotten their better manhood and had visited an indignity in the way of hazing on one of their members, Jefferson appeared in the assembly room of the college and asked the principal's permission to speak to the boys. He began by saying: "Young gentlemen, you are sons of Virginians"—here his voice faltered, he hesitated, again tried to speak and, bursting into tears, sat down.

Nothing that mortal man could possibly have planned could have been more effective. His possible word of rebuke to the students was unuttered, but every one in the room who had anything to do with the particular misdemeanors was humiliated, abashed and undone.

Jefferson always enjoyed good health, and even in his old age, after his eightieth year, nature was kindly, for Jefferson was a worker and a thinker to the day of his death. Jefferson was always gentle, always considerate. He founded no Ananias club. He once said, "No man is so wholly right that he can say that any one else is wholly wrong."

If ever a man grew old gracefully, that man was Thomas Jefferson. His hope for the race, his faith in the plain people, never faltered.

What this country must do is to catch up with Thomas Jefferson.

Every kind word you say about Waco reflects credit upon your own private aims.

ASLEEP IN THE SOUTH.

By Stephen Shannon, Staff Poet
Morning News.

We sleep where the wild moss is
In quiet and blissful repose,
Disturbed not, nor even molested,
By life with its manifold woes.

Around us the magnolias blossom,
The birds sweetly carol their lay;
The breezes with perfume are laden
From roses that grow by the way.

The beams of the bright queen of heaven,
The rays of the star-studded sky,
But echo the love of our Savior
So constantly hovering nigh.

At night when you slumber so sweetly,
We come with our blessings to you,
And whisper our fond inspirations
From hearts that you know to be true.

We always are seeking to bless you,
And striving in every way
To transform the shadows of night-fall
To glorious sunlight of day.

Just patiently working and waiting,
Till life with its trials shall cease,
To re-welcome you to living anew
In the love-lighted land of peace.

HAN'S ADVICE TO ALL THE BALL PLAYERS

Gather round me, players all:
Players pudgy, players tall,
Players lean and players fat,
Let us have a little chat.

Players never lose your heads;
Taff's is lost and so is Ted's.
Folks that pay to see you shine
Pay your salaries—AND MINE!

If the rooters in the crowd
Want to help in voices loud
Words and names too foul to hear
Let their yelps bound on your ear.

Players, heed my sound advice—
Act as meek as little mice—
All those horrid men, you see,
Are supporting you—AND ME.

—Wm. F. Kirk in Chicago Tribune.

WAR STARTED SUNDAY PAPER.

The power and value of the newspaper of today is explained, in no small measure by the battles of civil war. Out of these tumultuous conditions the Sunday newspaper was born.

Before the battle of Bull Run, the citizens of New York and Chicago frowned at the thought of a Sunday newspaper. As in London and Edinburgh today, they would not sanction it.

But when there were a million men in arms, and the whole nation trembled with the thunder of cannon; anxious parents, fearful wives, knowing that the battle was on, could not wait until Monday morning for news from the front.

But if the war did much for the press, newspaper men did much for liberty. To supply the people of the country with news from the field, a veritable army of war correspondents was organized, a telegraphic system built up that resulted in the development of the Associated Press.

This telegraphic service became a vast and shining web, with wires that trembled day and night, flashing despair, and hope to innumerable hearts. Liberty owes a great deal to the press, for it assembled all the people in one vast speaking chamber and told them how events were going with the slave and the union. —"Battle of Principles."

GREENLAND'S ICE CAP.

What is said to be the first accurate map and description of northern Greenland, showing that the great island stretches much farther eastward than has been generally assumed, appeared in the Copenhagen Geographical Journal.

The authors are the Dane, Captain Koch, and the German, Dr. Wegener, both of whom survived the ill-fated Danmark expedition, the leader of which, Mylius Erichsen, met his death in a tragic manner, as did his unfortunate companions, Hagen and Brownson.

Hagen finished his sketch maps of Danmark Fiord and Independence Sound while dying of hunger and exposure, while Brownson after Erichsen's death, dragged himself, with both feet frozen, to the depot on Lambert's Land, where he arranged his work in such a way that it could be easily located. Then he laid down and died, too.

The most valuable feature of the Danmark report is the map of the hitherto unexplored region of East Greenland between the seventy-ninth and the eighty-second parallel, although the entire work covers the land between 75 degrees 43 minutes to the northernmost point of Greenland, 82 degrees 30 minutes. There are also the results of Mylius Erichsen's excursions to Shannon Land and the Foulness Islands.

Dr. Wegener tells of the peculiar ice formations in those inhospitable regions. Elsewhere in similar high latitudes the ice melts every summer for a brief period and drifts away, but the ice cap in Greenland never melts.

It is only where the full force of the polar current strikes headlands and outlying islands that the ice is broken up in places and carried away. Along the whole coast section between the seventy-eighth and seventy-ninth degrees, known as Glacier Bay, both land and sea are covered by one vast continuous ice sheet. The tides here cause tremendous strains and stresses, but the permanent ice cap prevents the formation of icebergs.

You will have the largest city in Texas, if all do your part.
